Wesleyan's Faculty Members Go East

During the past year several members of Wesleyan's faculty turned their interests to the east. Dr. Herbert Coston of the history department and his wife Phyllis, director of the learning center, spent their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary in China. Dr. Coston's AIDP study was originally set for Africa, two years ago, but the trip had to be postponed. Collecting materials for the class he teaches in Asian History, Dr. Coston studied the developing areas of Canton, Peking, Sang-Hui and Hang Chou. Phyllis Coston, meanwhile concentrated on the theme of comparative education.

Dr. Ernest Capstack, one of Wesleyan's most respected chemistry professors, spent his sabbatical leave in the far east. Dr. Capstack traveled to India and Pakistan by airplane but while in Sri Lanka he could be seen traveling by elephant.

The most publicized trip was made by Dr. Ju Kuei Sun, associate professor of physics and Dr. Joseph B. Mow, professor of philosophy, who also traveled to China. Dr. Mow used a daily kept journal and photographs to present his trip, in report form, to those living in the Buckhannon area. Dr. Mow's report appeared in a January edition of The West Virginia Hillbilly. Drs. Sun and Mow visited not only Peking but also Manchuria and Canton, both are found on Mainland China.

Elements of German history, life and customs; emphasis on south-German/Austrian art, music, and architecture; German legal and educational systems.

— Become acquainted with some fundamentals of German and Austrian culture.

Travel period January 9-26. Morning classes, guest lecturers, visits to museums, palaces, villages, schools. Most afternoons and weekends free (optional weekend in Italy). Pass/fail evaluation based on full participation.

Prerequisites: None (all instruction in English)

Enrollment: 15

Meeting Time: Evening, January 9, at Kennedy Airport

Special Costs: $770 plus spending money.

Romania Revisited — "Romania Mania"

On Tuesday, May 15, 1979, the West Virginia Wesleyan College Jazz Ensemble set foot on Romanian soil for the second time in less than a decade. Having traveled to Romania in 1973 and Poland in 1974, we auditioned and gladly accepted an invitation from Friendship Ambassadors to perform in Jazz Celebration II in Sibiu, Romania. Thus "Romania-Mania" became a fact of life on the Wesleyan Campus.

Fund raising began almost immediately. We pooled our resources, with many students contributing the entire amount while others offered as much toward the individual total as their families could afford. Using the services of the Wesleyan Computer Center, we traced addresses of Wesleyan band alumni and wrote each of them. The band alums were able to send the equivalent of three passages to Romania. Finally, as we came near to our goal, Wesleyan's president, Fred Harris gave the band a green light and "Romania-Mania" was launched officially.

Several problems were encountered almost immediately. Our students had to arrange to take their final exams about a week early, and seven had to miss their own commencement ceremony. Fortunately, faculty and administration cooperation was outstanding and all went well for our May 14 departure.

Still, another problem had to be solved. Buckhannon, West Virginia, is nearly 500 miles from New York, making a one day trip to the airport nearly impossible. To solve the problem, we arranged an overnight concert engagement on May 13, the night before departure, in Woodbury, New Jersey—the home of one of our trombonists, B. J. Brazier. The students were housed in Woodbury homes on Sunday night, played an early Monday morning assembly program and left immediately for the airport.

On Tuesday, May 15th, early morning, we landed in Bucharest and met our guide, Mihaela Fistoc. Our next three weeks were to represent the most profound impression in the lives of our student players. We established lasting friendships, meaningful relationships, and heard many excellent Romanian musicians. Our hosts, BTJ did an outstanding job in arranging our performances and tours. On our first full day in Bucharest, we exchanged performances at the George Enescu High School for Music, where we heard soloists of fantastic musicianship.

In nearly every city, Brasov, Alba Iulia, Tirgu Mures, we met Romanian jazz players and in many cases, shared the stage in concert. In every performance, our ensemble was greeted by a packed house, rhythmic applause, and a presentation of beautiful flowers.

The Romanian people are justly proud of a beautiful country. We were dazzled with the grandeur of the snow-capped Carpathian Mountains during our stay in Busteni, the beautiful Black Sea coast at the International Student Hotel at Costinesti and the splendor of dining atop Mount Timpa at the Panoramic Restaurant high above the city of Brasov. While in Busteni, the Wesleyan band and a group of Russian tourists were entertained by an outstanding folk dancing group from Ploiesti, the L'Ensemble Folklorique "Prahova."

One of the highlights of our tour occurred after an extremely gratifying concert in Cluj. We were treated to a slide presentation featuring the West Virginia Wesleyan Jazz Ensemble on tour in Cluj in 1973. Hopefully, we can return in a few years and see slides of the '79 band!

Of course, the absolute highlight of our trip was the festival in Sibiu, Jazz Celebration II. Fortunately, it was scheduled at the end of our tour because everything after would be anti-climactic. Lectures were presented on a variety of subjects including "Romanian Folk Music in Jazz", the "History of the Development of Romanian Jazz Clubs", and the "History of the Swing Band Era", the latter presented by Fred Kaulman, director of our sister American group, the Eastern Montana State College Jazz Ensemble, from Billings, Montana.

We chose as our lecture topic, "The Influence of Odd and Changing Metered Music in American Big Band Repertoire", using as examples the works of Don Ellis, Hank Levy, Bob McConnell, Roger Neumann and Bill Holman.

Jazz Celebration II lasted three days: each of the first two nights saw several Romanian groups and one of the American groups. Standing room only audiences were the rule of the festival. The third and final night, the "Gala" featured as a prelude, a film of last year's festival. The concert included most of the groups from the past two days, and as a highlight, a "jam" featuring several Romanian soloists and groups with the Montana and then, the West Virginia groups. The "Gala" began at 6:30 PM with the film and was still going strong at 11:00 PM! We were treated to rhythmic applause throughout the concert and if chops could hold up, it seemed that we could have kept the full audience all night.

It was at the festival that our Wesleyan players understood what I meant

months earlier when I said that this is one of our better groups, and I wanted them to experience performing in Romania, the most appreciative of the ten countries I have performed in.

Dick Mayo, the Ambassadors' representative, expressed it best when he said that the Romanian people are the best audience in the world. In return, we became the greatest fans of the Romanian people. Perhaps we will tour elsewhere in the near future, but I know we will return to Romania.

Through the Eyes of a Musician

When, in the course of summer travels, I encounter a good friend who inquires of my recent trip to Romania, I rely on several well-worn but accurate phrases to describe my experiences in the country of the Carpathians.

"Marvelous"

"Wild"

"A Hundred new experiences"

"I want to go back!"

I then proceed with an oft-rehearsed narrative detailing my adventures as a saxophonist touring Romania with the West Virginia Wesleyan College Jazz Ensemble.

I always tell of our first concert at a music school in Bucharest. The audience applauded through whole songs, and we were swarmed by eager Romanian students who wanted to see or to play our horns, exchange addresses, or simply talk with us. I brag of having visited a fortress which was defended by the one and only "Vlad Tepes" during 14th century conflicts. Friends from my native state of New Jersey are amused when I elaborate on the effects of the stout and sturdy Romanian bere. A favorite story is the one about the Romanian restaurant owner who attempted to "rub" some coarse-grained chewing tobacco with me on the shore of the Black Sea. Unfortunately, it took some time and some frantic hand signals before the man understood that the sweet juices should be expelled and not swallowed

(con't on p. 30)

People from the "mountain state" of West Virginia always seem amazed when they find out Romania is a country with not only a sea coast, but flat farmlands and snow-capped mountains as well.

But my favorite experience from Romania is one that I rarely talk about. It started the night we performed in the beautiful city of Brasov. After an afternoon concert we were guests at a "Festive dinner" held at a ski resort. During the course of dinner I met a man who gave jazz lectures and who played some piano and guitar in Romanian clubs. With the help of our tour guide (and some pine-tree brandy) the man and I engaged in a healthy conversation about some American jazz styles and our own preferences in jazz. I never did pick up his full name. For the time, I knew him only as Alexander.

Two nights later we were in Sibiu, the last band on the opening night of concerts at Jazz Celebration II. Our band was playing well, and the enthusiasm of the audience helped create that feeling of electricity which makes performing so enjoyable. Our last song was Don Ellis' "The Great Divide," a real cooker and a real showpiece. After some good solos and two or three ripping solo sections the piece ended with each band member ad libbing on the melody line. The musicians then wandered off the stage and into the audience, still playing and filling the air with notes of every pitch and color. As I weaved through an aisle honking on my tenor sax, I spotted Alexander, smiling broadly and gesturing to me to go over near him and play. It was great to recognize someone in a crowd of unknown faces, and I gladly obliged. I stood behind him and continued playing. While I played, he reached out and held my right arm. His eyes were beaming, and he belted out in very understandable English, "Play it! Play it!" I responded, playing as hard as I could from my toes on up. When our director brought the cacophony to a close, I could do nothing but smile at my new friend. In those few seconds, the language of music transcended the limitations of nationality. This thing called jazz became a bridge for joy and spirit, unhindered by the limits of spoken language. Alexander embraced me heartily, his jewel-like eyes shining with happiness. Overwhelmed by applause and wild cheering, I shuffled my way back upstage feeling giddy, but happy and satisfied.

Perhaps the reason why this memory is a private one is because of my involvement as a musician. But it doesn't take a musician to realize how perfect a medium music is. And I hope that it is easy to see that friendship and joy are its premier messages.

Three honorary doctoral degrees were awarded by Wesleyan during Founders Day Ceremonies. Philip R. Moots was the recipient of a Doctor of Laws degree. Two Doctor of Divinity degrees were conferred. The first degree went to Rev. Hugh D. Crocker whose daughter, Paula, is a junior at Wesleyan. The second recipient of a Doctor of Divinity degree was Rev. Robert A. Chandler. Rev. Chandler's daughter, Nancy, was a recent graduate of Wesleyan. Chandler is secretary for the board of trustees for Wesleyan College. Traditionally, a service of recognition is held each year to honor the founders of Wesleyan College. This year, the families of those men and women who have made funds available for the eighty-eight scholarships, loans, and awards to students were recognized.

Queen Meg Reigns Over Festivities

Flappers, "The Cat's Meow!" — The campus of West Virginia Wesleyan College looked like a scene from "The Sting" on the weekend of October 20, 1978. This was the setting for Homecoming 1978, as alumni, students, trustees, and friends gathered for three days of events.

Backed by the theme "The Twenties and All That Jazz!", Homecoming weekend began with the Homecoming Queen Coronation Friday night in Wesley Chapel. Forming the procession-way were the members of the Freshman Honor Court: Betty Bailey, Dawn Duron, Becky Fast, Wendy Fefolt, Pam Foleska, Karen Jones, Dawn Koch, Donna Myers, Julie Olson, Jeanine Rose, Kelly Rowan, Mary Jane Rulong, Ann Walker, and Anne Zachur. Meg Risinger, a senior music major from St. Albans, West Virginia, was crowned as queen. She reigned over Freshman Attendant, Jane Summers; Sophomore Attendant, Megan Bowen; Junior Attendant Sue McConaughy; and Seniors Sandy Clawson, Sharon DeLitzia, Bonnie Gashlin, Ellen Royalty, and Susan Spears.

Concluding Friday's events was a concert by Michael Johnson and Burton Cummings. In an interview following the concert, Burton commented that he was very pleased with the crowd. He did not mind what size audience there was because he could feel the "energy pressing right up onto the stage."

Homecoming Queen 1978 Meg Risinger and her escort Jay Parker.

Wesleyan's only Barbershop Quartet: Bill Wood, Bruce Gladstone, Scott Hobson, and Rich Ingraham. The foursome participated in the coronation ceremonies by serenading the Homecoming Court.

The "Alpha Zee Delta" Bug.

“The Twenties and All That Jazz!”

Saturday loomed bright and beautiful as the day’s activities got underway with the traditional Homecoming parade. Theta Chi’s of the past: Jack Dempsey, Al Jolson, and the Lone Ranger were seen portraying a very familiar scene during the early years of 1900, an evening by the radio, in this case WOX. Theta Chi placed first in front of Phi Sigma Epsilon. Aboard the Phi Sig float, Jesse Koon and Jennifer Crouse demonstrate the art of dipping while the other second place float, Zeta Tau Alpha, strikes up the band for flappers to flap by. Also taking first place honors was the entry made by Alpha Gamma Delta, who wisely advised Glenville to “make a quick getaway.”

Following a picnic luncheon on the lawn of Jenkins Hall, the Orange and Black rallied to record a conference victory over the Glenville Pioneers with a score of 28-21. Halftime included the presentation of the Homecoming Court and entertainment by the Wesleyan Band. Homecoming Weekend concluded on Sunday morning in Wesley Chapel as the congregation listened to Lt. Col. Theodore J. Wilson, a 1958 Wesleyan graduate.

A Traditional Approach

The annual observance of a tradition enables us to join hands with the past. Meeting together at this season of the year to decorate our halls with greenery, we link ourselves with a custom that spans many centuries. Hanging the green is an ancient English custom, boughs of green stood as a symbol of hope and peace. When the Christian gospel reached the shores of Great Britain, some of the early rituals were blended with the resplendent celebration of the coming of the Prince of Peace. The custom of decorating the walls with greenery continued to take on new meaning under Christian influence, as a part of the Christmas celebration. Thus, the practice of hanging mistletoe, holly, and ivy over doorways and upon walls has been handed down from pagan times and has become, through the centuries, an integral part of our Christmas observance. We hang the green at Wesleyan from year to year to signify the official opening of the Christmas season on campus. Let us hang the green:

LAUREL . . . The ancient Romans used the laurel as an emblem of peace, joy, and victory.

MISTLETOE . . . The sacred possessor of magical powers.

IVY . . . An ever-growing, ever-clinging vine, a symbol of our immediate constancy and future concern.

HOLLY . . . The holly leaves represent the crown of thorns worn by Jesus on the cross. The red berries symbolize the drops of blood. merry christmas!

Black Awareness Week: Julian Bond

This year marked the fifth anniversary of the newest Wesleyan tradition. Each year in the spring the Black Students' Coalition sponsors Black Awareness Week. During this week a number of activities were planned for the entire campus community. This year these events included a presentation of the movie Sounder, sickle cell anemia tests administered by Barnhart Memorial Health Center, and a coffeehouse featuring members of the Black Students' Coalition.

Possibly the highlight of Black Awareness Week was the appearance of Senator Julian Bond of Georgia. Senator Bond's lecture, "America What Next?" was delivered Saturday preceding a reception in the Chambers Lounge of Martin Religious Center. Also addressing the campus community was Ida S. Baker. Mrs. Baker participated in a panel discussion involving various members of the Wesleyan staff and guests of the college.

Spring Sing '79

The 1979 academic year proved to be one of nostalgia, as both Homecoming and Spring Weekend generated fond memories of past years. Spring was greeted at Wesleyan by old fashioned love songs. As traditionally done, the weekend was begun by the coronation of the Spring Queen. This year that honor was given to senior Carolyn Martin, an art major from Charleston. Carolyn's court consisted of Freshman Attendant Karyn Flowers, Seniors Barb Salter, Jenny Crouse, Barb Myers and Sue Spears, Sophomore Attendant Becky Burgess, and Junior Attendant Sarah Mangus. After being crowned, Queen Carolyn sat in her throne smiling to everyone who appeared to serenade her.

Just an Old Fashion Love Song

A queen, a mistress of ceremonies, the Concert Chorale, thirteen competing groups and two groups singing just for fun was the cast of Spring Sing '79. Lu Ann Goldizen resided as mistress of ceremonies as the Spring Court and audience were entertained by a large variety of love songs, sung by thirteen diverse groups. In the men's division, Albatross, under the direction of Jeff Haught, placed first, in front of Phi Sigma Epsilon and Theta Xi. The women's division also saw an independent group as the first place singers. Affectionately Yours, directed by Rachel Swanson took first place honors by singing about "That Certain Feeling." Second and third went to Alpha Gamma Delta and Sugar and Spice.

The Other Graduation Ceremonies

Baccalaureate

Go then, for there is a noble commission given to you because of the special gifts with which you have been endowed, because of the nature of those gifts by the spirit of Wesleyan, you are hereby commissioned to go out into the world — to make a difference — to change it for the better — to enrich it with your own brand of creative goodness — to redeem it when it falters. Go then, and God bless you!

Baccalaureate is one of the other graduation ceremonies.

This year the Baccalaureate sermon was delivered by Rev. Charles E. Echols. Rev. Echols delivered his sermon, "Something Like A Star" to members of the graduating class and their families. Three members of that class received senior awards.

To Bob Wilkins, Marvin H Carr III presented the Francis Asbury Award. Rachel Swanson was awarded the Sheridan Watson Religious Lite Influence Award. Finally, Meg Risinger received the William B. Hatfield Arts Award.

Pinning

For some, graduation is anti-climactic, anti-climactic because their real achievement is honored the day before commencement services. "How come," of course you mean "why does this seem to happen?" The answer we are speaking of senior nursing majors and possibly one of the most respected accomplishments on Wesleyan's campus . . . the completion of the four year nursing program. Compared to graduation, in many ways, the pinning ceremony is a more sentimental one, as is the sophomore ceremony of Capping. The pinning ceremony comes across almost as a family affair, with members of the nursing family taking part. For instance, how many tears built up as Doris Godsey, a nursing instructor, pinned her daughter Sue? or as Barb Myers sang "The Way We Were" and how many fond memories were brought back by Cathy Stifter's "Reflections"? . . . drug cards, care plans, blue uniforms and 5 a.m. mornings, all fitting the scheme of requirements that provide the means to this end

Anticipation

As the last comprehensive final was being completed and as the last paper was being turned in the Wesleyan community prepared for perhaps its most important tradition . . . Commencement. Everywhere signs of congratulations and preparation could be seen.

And everybody celebrated. Starting with the members of the senior class itself. One of the biggest of these celebrations was that of the Senior Party, given and organized by several members of the class, including Disco Gus Godsey, who kept parts of the Bicentennial and the senior class grooving to the beat of accomplishment. But the graduates were not the only ones seen celebrating. When Saturday arrived, it was the parents' turn, celebrating their sons' and daughters' completion by attending the Senior Parent Banquet. Not to be left out, Wesleyan's future graduates also celebrated by spending those last good times with the brothers, the sisters, their friends.

Of course, anticipation also includes planning. In this case planning seemed to revolve around where to go next, what to do, and how to get four years of memories packed in the car.

Worth Smiling About:

Amid all the smiles and tears, all the hugs and cheers, picture taking and gown removal there seemed to be a cloaked person roaming around. This, of course, was the famed undercover yearbook reporter. With ears perked and a tape recorder running the following was overheard as answers to the question — What are you planning to do after Graduation?

"Gonna start looking for a job"

"Med School . . . WVU"

"I don't know"

"Return all my library books"

"Go home and have my mom cook me a real meal"

"I'm gonna travel, all summer . . ."

"Get married"

"Go home, this will be the first time in four years I can spend more than a week with my family"

"Go to grad school"

"PARTY — HARDY"

"Start all over . . . again"

"I have a lot of people to thank and it could take a long time."

"Celebrate!"

"I think I should pray and thank God"

"I'm planning the biggest party New Jersey has ever seen."

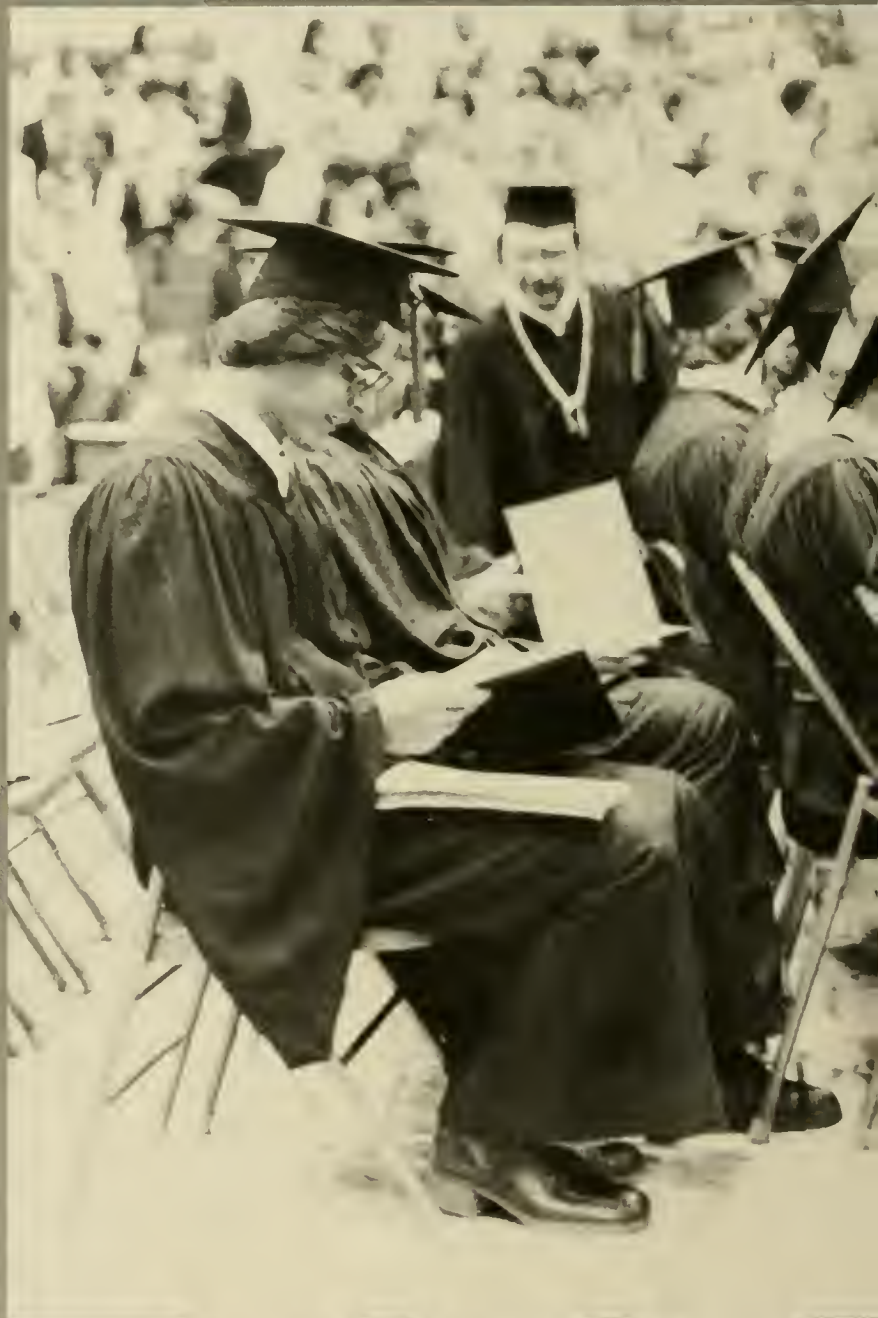

"Sort through everything I've seemed to have acquired these past four years."

". . . start making money instead of spending it."

"Take over my father's business."

"Write a lot of letters."

"After Graduation? . . . think I'll go home and take a shower."

THE CHAMPIONS

Women Dominate WVIAA

West Virginia Wesleyan Women's tennis team capped its finest season ever by winning the West Virginia Women's Collegiate Tennis championship at the Charleston Indoor Tennis Center.

Wesleyan won three of four singles and two of three doubles matches to finish the tournament with 25 points. Shepherd, who the Lady Cats had lost to earlier in the year, was second with 19. West Liberty was third (12), Morris Harvey fourth (11), Concord fifth (6), Fairmont sixth (3), and West Virginia State and Wheeling seventh (2 each). Davis and Elkins did not score.

Ross and Linda Spears grabbed second in the first doubles.

It was a fitting end to a spectacular season for Coach Sam Ross' netters, who finished with an 8-2 record (losing to WVU and to Shepherd)

Freshman Jeanine Rose, junior Linda Spears, and senior captain Sue Spears exemplified the versatility of the team that dominated the WVIAC throughout the entire season

COFFEY LEADS FOOTBALL

Sophomore Larry Coffey set two new school records to lead Coach Kent Carpenter's football squad to a 6-3-0 slate and their second consecutive winning season. The Delray Beach, Florida native rushed for 1159 yards on 218 carries to break the old rushing mark of 1004 yards set by Steve Vannoy in 1975. Coffey captured the WVIAC rushing championship and has been ranked among the top five rushers in both the NCAA and NAIA.

In addition to breaking the season rushing record, Larry also broke the single game rushing record with a 218 yard performance against West Virginia Tech. The old record was 203 yards by Bill Wood in 1959 against Mt. Union.

Coffey was not the only performer to set new school records. Quarterback Vincent Mitchell, also of Delray Beach, Florida, set the new record of touchdown passes in a season. The speedy junior hit on nine TD passes to break the old record of seven set by Bernie Bartek in 1959. Sophomore place-kicker George Claffey set four new records with most field goals (5), longest field goal (47), most extra points (21), and most extra point

SQUAD TO 6-3-0 RECORD

tempts (25). Bill Klenk, sophomore cornerback from Bridgeport, set new records for interception return yardage in a season and a game. Klenk returned enemy aerials for 16 yards, including a 57-yard return against West Virginia State.

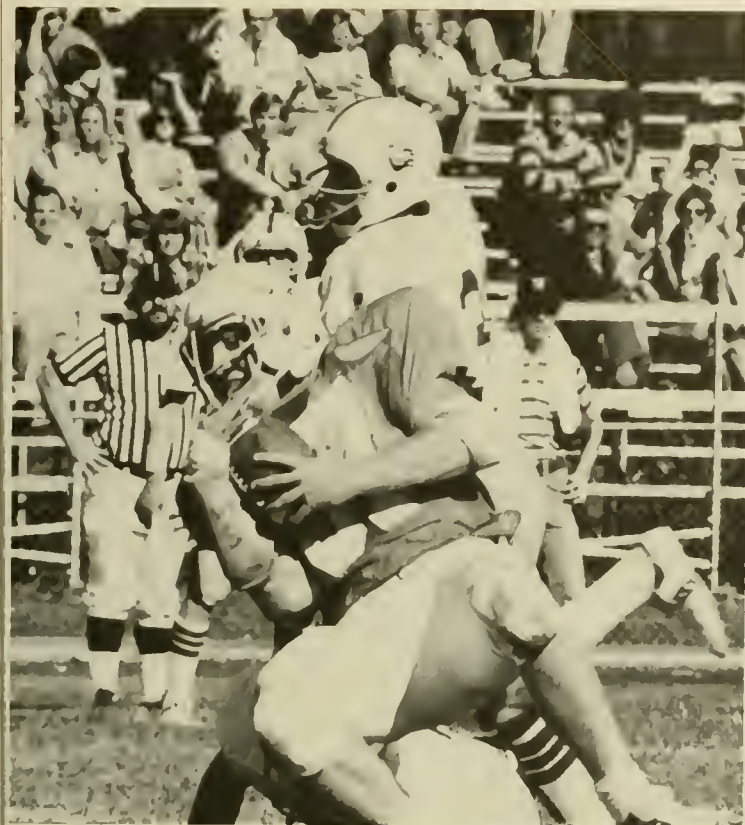

In addition to Coffey, Mitchell also had an outstanding rushing season with 525 yards on 131 carries. Senior Rich Thomaselli, hampered by ankle injuries the entire fall, picked up 250 yards on 77 tries.

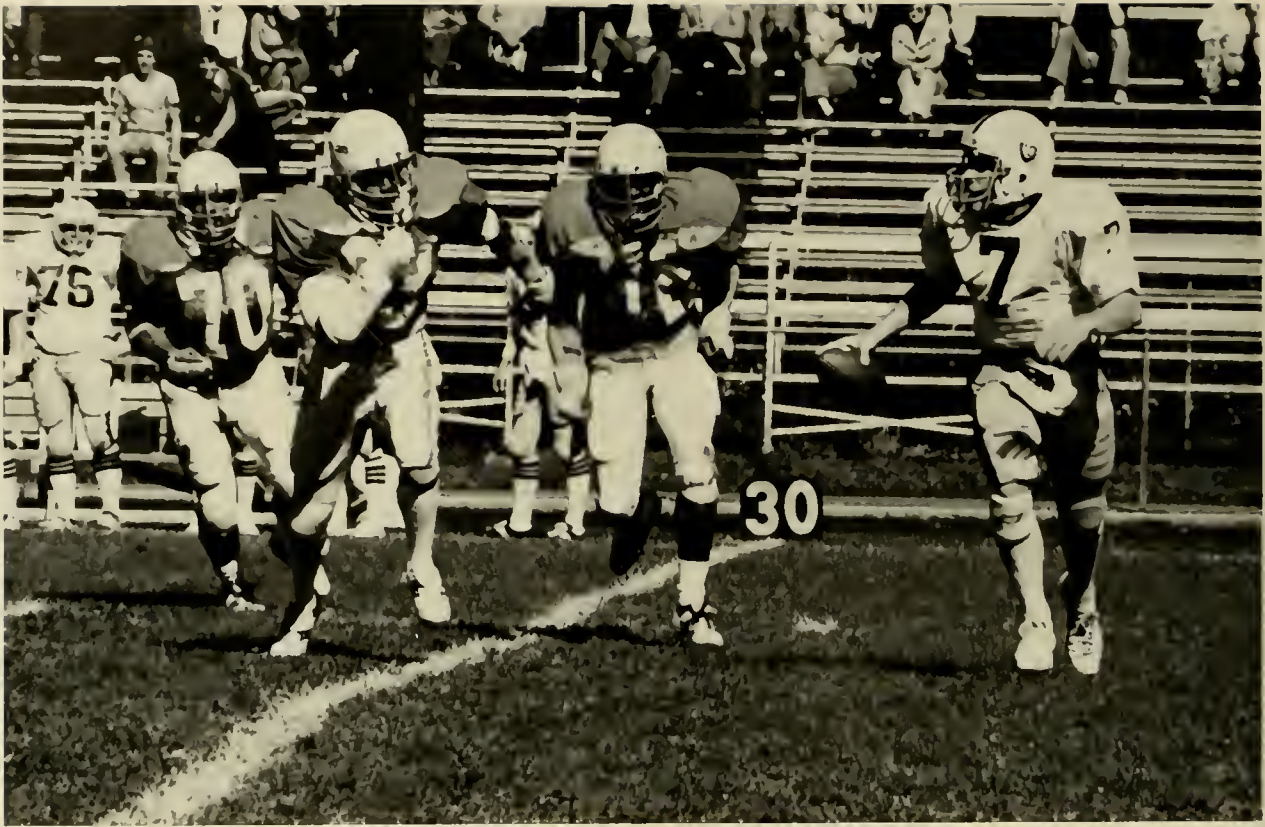

Eight seniors played their last season for the Cats. Offensive tackle Roy Norris, Thomaselli, tight ends Joe Dotson and Mike Salmons graduate from the offensive unit, while four year standouts Fred Saunders, Myron Williams, and Chris Patella leave the defense. These eight players suffered through hard times at Wesleyan, but became the rock for the new foundation of winning football at the college. With two consecutive winning seasons under his belt, Coach Kent Carpenter has gotten the Cats back in football.

Top: Dynamic runningback Larry Coffey eludes Shepherd's defense for considerable yardage in the Cats' heartening 16-13 setback to the eventual Northern Division Champions. Lower Left: Quarterback Vincent Mitchell scampers for yardage against Glenville State during the Homecoming game. Mitchell keyed the victory passing for two touchdowns and running for another in the 28-21 win. Lower Right: Senior Rich Thomaselli prepares to encounter Glenville's defense with Mitchell trailing.

Left: Freshman Jerry Free secures the pigskin tumbling into the end zone for another touchdown in Wesleyan's Homecoming victory. Lower Right: Scurrying for his second touchdown is Preston Wright in Wesleyan's 34-21 win against Salem College. Wright's touchdown pass receptions allowed Mitchell to surpass the old record of touchdown passes in a season. Bottom: Vincent Mitchell's precise execution to four year starter Rich Thomaselli avoided a setback on Glenville's blitz.

Top: Senior defensive unit featuring Chris Patella, Fred Saunders, and Myron Williams pursue Glenville's quarterback to prevent a pass attempt. Lower Left: "THERE AIN'T NO SUCH THING AS A FREE LUNCH," is the philosophy behind the Cats' two consecutive winning football seasons. Lower Right: Another sack for Wesleyan's sparkling defense; this time Glenville State's quarterback being the victim.

Left: Consistency for the 'Cats throughout the season was the defense with Danny Williams assisting Fred Saunders and oncoming Chris Patella to devastate Glenville State's offense behind the line of scrimmage. Lower Right: Coach Kent Carpenter dictates the necessary defensive maneuvers to Chris Patella and Danny Williams, both four year defensive standouts. Bottom: Dazzling punt return artist Rick Carrier returns a punt during the Wesleyan-Glenville State Homecoming game. Carrier was the leading punt return and kickoff return player for Wesleyan.

Seniors Endure Four Year Campaign

Women Complete Toughest Schedule in the School's History

Five years ago, Wesleyan began its initial season in women's basketball. The Bobcats were behind other schools who had the program for several seasons. In 1979, however, Wesleyan is behind very few schools and is coming closer to becoming the number one team in the state.

The Cats under Caroline Horner posted a 16-5 record this winter against the toughest schedule in the school's history. They again finished second to Morris Harvey in the WVIAA and placed fourth in the season-ending tournament after being upset by Davis and Elkins and West Liberty.

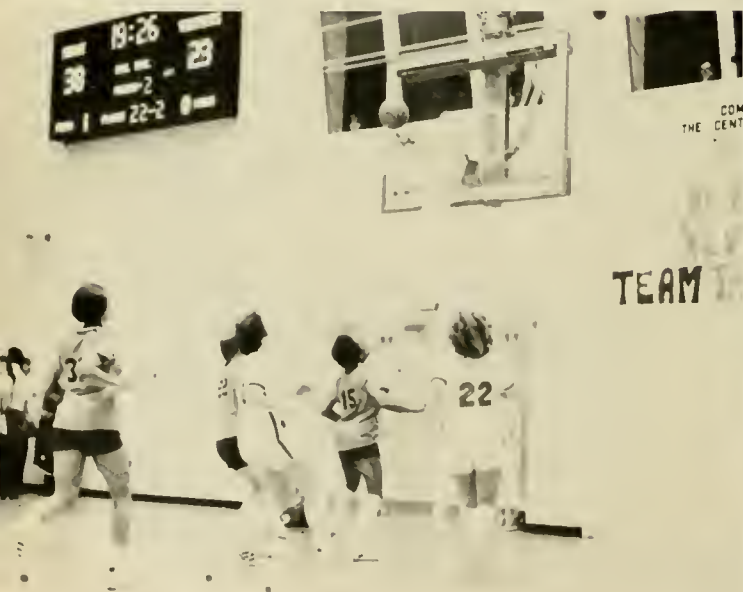

The Orange and Black had several great victories during the 1978-79 campaign, but perhaps the highlight of the season came in a 104-101 overtime victory over Marshall University in Huntington. Sophomore forward Betty Cook and senior center Janice Evans combined to lead the Bobcats to their greatest in women's basketball short history.

Other tough victories came over Davis and Elkins, Alderson-Broadus, Salem, Fairmont State, Frostburg State, Marietta, West Virginia Tech, West Liberty, Wheeling, West Virginia State, Concord, and Glenville State.

There were disappointing losses including heartbreaking defeats from Virginia Tech and West Virginia University. The Bobcats had chances to win both games, but fell short at the buzzer.

Wesleyan will miss Janice Evans badly next year as she graduates after having two outstanding seasons. However, the rest of the squad will return which should mean that the Cats will continue their battle for the number one spot in the state.

Evans' Two Year Reign in the WVIAA Comes to an End

NAIA DISTRICT

After nineteen years, the drought has ended. After coming so close for the past two years, the frustration has ended. After eight years, Fairmont State's domination of the West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference in basketball has ended. During the past four years West Virginia Wesleyan has been coming back in basketball. Memories of the institution's domination of the sport in the late 50's and early 60's were returning. Still, the Bobcats had not reached the top. In 1979 the drought and frustration ended. As singer Al Stewart sings in his award winning hit, "It Was the Year of the Cat."

The Bobcats have returned and returned in a very big way. After struggling during the early part of the season, the Cats caught fire, winning the conference title and going to Kansas City for the NAIA Tournament, the first time since 1960.

The keys to the success were rather simple. The Bobcats had talent, a lot of class, and togetherness. Their goals were simple win the conference and go to Kansas City.

It was not as easy as it sounds. Disaster struck the team in the second game of the season when sophomore guard Mike Williams broke his foot. The squad did not have an abundance of depth, and everyone in Buckhannon felt that the Cats had to stay healthy to win.

Everyone in the Upshur County community also knew that John Bates, Mark Davis, and Jim Brogan were great basketball players. But could they do it alone? That answer came quickly when Fairmont State made its first trip to Buckhannon. The Falcons were ranked fifth in the nation and were heavy favorites to win the conference again.

The contest was a hard fought one and Bates, Davis, and Brogan were having their usual outstanding games. However, Fairmont's premier center Harvey Austin found an unpleasant surprise. Wesleyan's 6-8 center Tim Dixon was a lot better and much more aggressive which made Fairmont's explosive inside offense become somewhat ineffective. While this was happening, point guard Rich Cameron, a spot player last season, took control of the offense and before anyone realized it, the Bobcats waltzed by Fairmont 81-68. Cameron had scored 14 points during the last five minutes, and a lot of people's questions about the Cats were answered.

Of course, as usual the Bobcats lost their next two conference games, which put them behind Fairmont again. However, instead of folding, the squad pulled together winning 12 straight conference games to go back on top the WVIAC standings. With Bates and Davis scoring 20 points per game apiece inside and Brogan blizzing the nets from the outside, the Wesleyan offensive machine became almost impossible to stop. Cameron continued his brilliant play and Dixon steadily contributed 10 points each night. Hess also found another piece of gold in Mike Cardamone, a pesky 5-10 guard, who led the team in steals. All of this had many conference coaches calling the Bobcats the best offensive team to play in the conference in 15 years.

There were tough games in the 12-game winning streak, but the contest that put the Cats in first place for good came in the Fairmont State Feaster Center. Thirty-five hundred fans were ready for another classic showdown, but what they saw was a new champion methodically defeat the old one. Cameron again killed the Falcons down the stretch, while the rest of the squad continued its fine play. Hess' squad continued winning after the Fairmont encounter with the lone exception, a one point loss to Alderson-Broadus. Finally, on February 19, the Cats clinched the title downing Wheeling 78-62 in the northern panhandle. Goal number one had been reached.

For the past two years, the Bobcats had won the WVIAC Tournament Championship and most observers felt they would win it again. After an easy 93-71 victory over Salem, the Bobcats faced old nemesis Morris Harvey. For the past two seasons, the Cats had eliminated the Golden Eagles from the tourney and ended their season. In 1979, however, the tables would turn, and Morris Harvey would return the favor to Wesleyan. It was another classic semi-final game, with neither team leading by more than four points. Morris Harvey wanted this game very badly. They were figured to be a championship contender but saw several injuries reduce them to mediocrity. With all players back in the line-up they wanted to redeem themselves by winning the tournament. After changing leads all night, the Eagles prevailed 71-70 despite great efforts by Rich Cameron and Mike Williams, who had returned to the squad after his season long injury.

After defeating Wesleyan, Morris Harvey needed only one more win to advance to the District 28 playoffs against the Cats. However, while Morris Harvey was winning, there was another team who was wearing the glass slipper. Concord and its 6-4, 245 pound center Will Johnson had come out of nowhere to reach the finals, and before Morris Harvey could regain its composure the cinderella Mountain Lions waltzed by them for the title.

So it was Concord and Wesleyan in the playoffs, and many people wondered if the Orange and Black would come up short again. That question did not take long to answer as the Bobcats crushed the Mountain Lions in two straight to reach their second goal — go to Kansas City.

As usual, Mark Davis was phenomenal in the playoffs hitting every shot in sight. He led all scorers with 20 and 25 points in each game, while John Bates grabbed 30 rebounds in the two games. Cameron and Brogan hit from the outside, and Dixon kept Concord's Will Johnson from doing what he does best — score.

Wesleyan's draw in Kansas City was ninth ranked St. John's of Minnesota. The Johnnies brought a 26 game winning streak into the tournament and were in Kansas City for the third consecutive season. They were favored over the Cats, and many people felt that it would be an easy game for the District 13 champs. But as usual, Wesleyan fooled everyone and both teams locked up one of the greatest opening round games in recent NAIA Tournament history. It was an intense battle with neither team able to stay on top. After battling for 39 minutes and 50 seconds the score was tied at 71-71. Wesleyan had the basketball and set up for the last shot. With six seconds remaining Cameron's 12 foot jumper went in and out with one second remaining. Bates' follow up went in and out. Everyone felt that both shots were in, but somehow they were not. The struggle carried into overtime and finally with four seconds remaining St. John's Pat McKenzie swished a 20 footer to lift the Minnesotians to an 83-81 win.

Two players who led them back leave the Wesleyan program and will be sorely missed. Rich Cameron had a tremendous season giving the squad its first real floor leader in over a decade. Mark Davis also closed out his brilliant career. He had endured the frustration of almost winning and enjoyed the reality of the dream coming true — being the champion. Davis scored over 1700 points and finished fifth on the all time scoring list.

Of course, with a team championship, comes many individual honors. Bates, Davis, and Brogan all earned first team all-conference honors as well as All-West Virginia selections. Bates finished in the top ten in rebounding in both the NCAA and NAIA while Cameron and Williams received All-WVIAC tourney awards

Davis Becomes Fifth on the All Time Scoring List

Wesleyan capped off its most successful sports year in recent history by winning the West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference's Commissioner's Cup. The award, long dominated by West Liberty, goes to the institution with the best overall sports program. The Bobcats had outstanding campaigns in football, soccer and basketball, but clinched the award because of its surprising strong performances in the spring sports program.

Tennis and track paved the way with second place finishes. Coach Tom Martin's netters posted a fine 8-1 regular season mark and proceeded to battle perennial powerhouse Shepherd to the wire before falling to second in the state meet. Senior Parke Wolte earned All-Conference honors by winning the individual six singles championship, while junior Will Armstead, sophomore John Humes, and freshman Dale Powell finished second in the state.

Armstead combined with senior Don Fleming to place second in the number one doubles competition, while Humes and Wolfe took second in the number two doubles. The second place finish for the netters was the best performance by a Wesleyan tennis team in over 10 years.

Coach Bob Braine's thinclads also had an outstanding season narrowly losing to West Liberty for the conference title. Distance runner Gerald Murphy of Montreal, Canada closed out his brilliant track career by winning the 1500 meter run, and placing second in the 5000 and 10000 meter races. It was the fourth consecutive year that Murphy had picked up an individual title and a second place finish in the conference meet and allowed him to become the all-time leading point getter in Wesleyan history in WVIAC races. While Murphy was excelling in distance races, Buckhannon freshman Rick Reddecliffe captured the high jump and went on to place fifth in the NCAA Division II meet to earn All-American honors. The talented performer earned his All-American status by leaping 6'10¼". Another freshman, Willie Waugh also captured a WVIAC championship with his sparkling performance in the discus.

Other fine efforts in the conference meet were turned in by hurdler Tony Branch, sprinters Larry Coffey, Anthony Pryor, Preston Wright, and Randall Brown. Senior Rich Thomasselli and freshman Jerry Free added points to the Cats' cause in the discus and shot put, while seniors Brian Murphy and Matt Forrest closed out their careers with fine outings in the 880 and 440.

Coach Bob Braine became the second Wesleyan coach to earn Coach of the Year honors with the track team's performance. Earlier in the year, Tom Martin earned the similar honor for his efforts with the soccer Program.

While track and tennis placed second, John Myers' golf squad surprised many people in the state with a third place finish. The young Cats finished behind Glenville and Davis and Elkins with strong performances from senior Jay Robinson, junior Scott Musick, sophomore Brad Fenlon, and freshman Alex Withers, Bill Blue, and Alan Stealey.

Hank Ellis' baseball squad also had a fine season with a 12-9 record and a 6-7 slate. One of the Cats' 12 victories came over NAIA powerhouse Point Park, the nation's number three team. Junior Mickey Tenney led the way for the Cats with his timely hitting and fine play at shortstop and earned first team All-WVIAC honors. Freshman Dave Maybo led the squad in hitting with a .387 mark, while Steve Klebart followed closely behind at .347. Junior centerfielder Vincent Mitchell and senior catcher Jim Baratucci hit .338, while second baseman Kevin Bourgeois batted at a .320 clip.

Sophomore Jim Warner led the Bobcat mound crew with a 2.86 ERA, while freshman John Beetham picked up five wins with his 3.86 earned run average. With several freshmen on the squad, the Bobcats could be a contender next spring.

Although women's sports do not count in Commissioner's Cup ratings, the Bobcat women's track squad continued its tradition of excellence with another fine season. Junior Tyan Bitetti again paved the way with great efforts in the 440 and mile and 440 relays. Other standouts included Joyce Hawk, Mary Ann Balli, and Sally Large in the sprints, Dee Dee Donnelly and Sara Speegle in the distance runs, and Terry Donovan and Zoe Gingerich in the hurdles.

Assistant basketball coach Charlie Miller resigned his position at Wesleyan to become head basketball coach at Lake Forest College in Illinois. Miller was instrumental in helping to develop the Bobcat basketball program into one of the best in the state. Charlie played at Wesleyan from 1962-66 and earned the most valuable player award in the WVIAC Tournament in 1966.

The Merrill Palmer Experience

Every year eight to twelve students from West Virginia Wesleyan College leave this campus to study at the Merrill-Palmer Institute in Detroit. The students are majoring in Youth Services, a pre-professional study program developed at West Virginia Wesleyan College for students wanting to work with troubled adolescents. The Youth Services major is an interdisciplinary liberal arts program requiring, in addition to general studies, courses in sociology, psychology, and government. During the junior year students live in Detroit, studying childhood and adolescence in an urban setting through Merrill-Palmer. Between 1975 and 1979 approximately 30 Wesleyan students have completed their Merrill-Palmer internship. Upon graduation Youth Services students find careers in group homes, reform schools, child welfare programs, probation offices, juvenile courts, youth divisions of police departments, and other child-serving agencies.

Jan. Term '79

Life used to be simple
Life used to be fun.
Jan. Term stayed on campus,
There was no chance for sun.

But now life is complicated,
Decisions are harder: -
Study botany in Florida or government and Carter?

Learn to ski
Take Angling and Fly Tying
Study the camera
Read about Death and Dying.

Issues in Marketing,
Principles of Aviation,
or Opera Workshop
Could be a vacation.

Women in Literature,
The American Experience,
Human Relations Training,
Disembodied Existence.

How about something to meet a general requirement?
Sure, take the speech class —
Analysis of Full Employment.

I want to travel,
Don't want to stay home.
Take an independent study
And take off for Rome.

Go with Hamner to Europe,
Or with Jim Davis to the beach.
Mr. Carr will take you to D.C.
and teach you how to preach.

I have no money
And need to stay close,
Then study in these hills,
Forget the Florida coast.

Cause when it comes to Jan. Term
Wesleyan can be fun.
We party like the rest
But never burn from the sun.

Each semester sixteen or so education majors can be detected as having ever darkening circles beneath their eyes, and a minimum of time to accomplish a maximum of work. They have met their fate, the most dreaded of all their semesters of study. The semester when they are plagued with "The Block," a crash preparation course for student teaching. During this time learning packets, bulletin boards, science projects, metric workshops, and most importantly mini-teaches dominate one's hours till one has no hours left.

What's in a Name?

From time to time a group will make its appearance on campus. It is natural to assume that such a group is social in nature. Albatross is, of course, the best example of such a purely social group. But in most cases the origin of these groups can be traced to changes within housing. This year three such groups evolved from the housing crunch.

The members of these groups are easily identifiable by the matching shirts they sport.

This year Wesleyan placed students in areas that were used for housing for the first time. Moving the Student Personnel Center to the second floor of the Administration Building and converting the offices to dorm rooms. Aggie's Wine Cellar was created. Thus, the overflow of freshman women was accommodated.

Meanwhile, on Kanawha Street the college bought and prepared a brown stucco house for the overflow of freshman men. Known campus wide as the 83rd, these young men made quite an impression as they made their presence known, and inspired a third group, also freshmen. The Better Half of the 83rd consisted of freshman women living on the second floor of Holloway, acquiring their name as a reflection of their friendship with the 83rd.

New Law Library Established

In cooperation with members of the Upshur County Bar Association and friends of the college, the Myron B. Hymes, Sr. Collection for the law library at West Virginia Wesleyan College was established this fall.

The development of the law library was initiated in honor of Myron B. Hymes, Sr., a Buckhannon attorney, who has practiced law for 55 years.

A retired senior partner of the firm of Hymes and Coonts, he is past president of the Upshur County Bar Association, has served on the board of governors of the West Virginia State Bar, and is a member of the West Virginia Bar Association and the National Association of College and University Attorneys.

Hymes was a member of the board of trustees of Wesleyan College from 1930 to 1969, secretary of the board from 1943 to 1959, and president of the board for a period of ten years.

Each year President Harris takes under his wing a few young men and trains them in the art of Administration. Initiated in the Spring of 1978, the internship was at first designed for one Administrative Assistant a semester. This year, however, Dr. Harris was able to accommodate three assistants. This particular internship is applicable to majors in both the government and business fields.

To this point the internship has always been attempted by senior men. Next year Dr. Harris will experience his first semester with a senior woman as an assistant.

Four Long Years

It takes four years to become an R.N. sometimes longer. Starting as a freshman nursing major time no longer seems to be as plentiful as it had once been. As a freshman main concentration is given to biology, chemistry and their subsequent labs, with a focus on passing them. At the beginning of the sophomore year nursing students are capped, noting the start of their clinical practice. The junior year is often the roughest. If you can make it through that, you can make it through anything. During this year you learn about every known disease in existence. Then, comes the final year. As a senior Student Nurse you go into more depth, studying community health and psychiatric nursing. The S.N. now handles most things on her own. Finally, you are pinned and the four years are over. After four long years you have earned a bachelor's in nursing, and if you pass your state boards you'll be an R.N.

Dr. William Capitan Resigns

Dr. William H. Capitan, for the past five years Vice President of Academic Affairs and Dean of the College at Wesleyan College, has resigned to accept the presidency of Georgia Southwestern College, Americus, Ga., effective July 1.

The college, part of the University System of Georgia, has a student enrollment of 2400. Two of its illustrious alumni are President and Mrs. Jimmy Carter.

In announcing Dr. Capitan's resignation, Dr. Fred E. Harris, Wesleyan College President said, "During the tenure of Dr. Capitan as Vice President and Dean of Wesleyan, the college has made major moves forward, both in the academic area and in general institutional development. A brilliant academician, he loves learning-as the true scholar. Dr. Capitan and his family have our best wishes in their new roles."

While at Wesleyan, Dr. Capitan inaugurated the Master of Arts in the teaching degree program. He developed Wesleyan as a Regional Development Center of the Appalachian region through the college's first million dollar grant. The Advanced Institutional Development Program (AIDP), funded by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, has enabled Wesleyan to institute a planning, management and evaluation system, course work through radio, a management information system, development training for the faculty, grant administration and fund replacement.

He came to Wesleyan in 1974 from Saginaw Valley College where he also served as Vice President for Academic Affairs and Acting President. He was associated with Oberlin College for several years as Chairman of the Department of Philosophy. There he drafted a new religious program still in effect at that institution.

Dr. Capitan received his Bachelor of Arts Degree in philosophy from the University of Michigan in 1954 and studied for one year in Belfast, Northern Ireland, at Queen's University under an Ulster-American Fellowship granted through Horace Rackham School of Graduate Study at the University of Michigan.

His Master of Arts Degree in philosophy was granted in 1958 and his doctorate in 1960 from the University of Minnesota. He studied theology during the summer of 1962 at the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge, Mass. Dr. Capitan studied in the summers of 1961 and 1962 under a research grant sponsored by the University of Maryland Graduate School. In 1967-1968, he was awarded an American Council of Learned Societies Fellowship Research grant and studied in Paris.

Dr. Capitan is the author of several articles, books and reviews.

Business

Education for a career in the business world must provide students with the intellectual competence to become successful, responsible, and creative business leaders. To this end the faculty seeks to develop in students both a thorough understanding of the diverse operational problems involved in a business world of changing dimensions, and insights into their solutions.

In an attempt to master the more specialized aspects of business, students are encouraged to explore social and other cultural values. The exacting demands which face the executive require that he possess more than a high degree of professional competence. He must have a broad grasp of general business fundamentals and a full awareness of the economic, social, and human forces which form the background against which his business career in business leadership must be based upon a broad cultural foundation.

The courses offered meet the needs of those intending to enter one of the fields of business, pursue graduate study, or teach business subjects.

Economics

The courses in economics are designed to provide the student with an adequate understanding of economic principles and problems; to give a good economic background to students interested in business, finance, government, law, teaching, and other related fields; and to meet the more specific needs of economic majors.

Mathematics

The Mathematics Department structures its courses to prepare students majoring in mathematics for entrance to graduate school; to provide students of engineering with the necessary foundations; to train students who wish to pursue careers in teaching mathematics or related teaching fields; to provide the mathematical tools needed in the natural, social, and applied sciences. The mathematics program is flexible and under constant revision to satisfy the needs of students and of present day society.

Psychology

It is the purpose of this department to aid the student in adjustment to himself and to others and in the acquiring of a liberal education, and to provide preparation for graduate study in the form of basic mastery of content, the scientific method and in independent study.

Biology

The objectives of this department are (1) to make available to students the cultural and practical values of biology, (2) to provide pre-professional training for students who plan to enter schools of dentistry, medicine, forestry, or other graduate schools, and (3) to provide adequate training for students who expect to become teachers of biology, laboratory technicians, or have other career objectives related to the field.

Nursing

The department's goal is to prepare a nurse-generalist who is personally and professionally aware, competent to utilize the nursing process in professional nursing practice and prepared to be a responsible member of the profession.

Freshman pre-nursing majors, during the second semester must apply to the Nursing Department for admission into the program the following fall. Admission is based upon academic ability determined by a grade point average of 2.25 or higher, a grade of "C" or satisfactory completion of the prerequisite support course and by satisfactory completion of the pre-professional nursing course. Personal qualifications are evaluated by a committee of the nursing faculty.

Chemistry

The Chemistry Department provides a background of chemical science to meet the needs of a variety of students pursuing a variety of careers. The introductory and general courses are general studies courses in science suitable for any student; these and other courses are utilized to provide the chemistry needed for degree programs dependent on chemistry. Two degree programs are offered in chemistry. The department prepares students to enter professional schools in such areas as medicine and dentistry; it prepares chemists to enter the chemical profession directly to teach, or to attend graduate school.

Education

Courses offered in Education are designed to help students preparing to teach to acquire the professional understanding and skills necessary for success in teaching, and to meet requirements for certification in West Virginia and other states. West Virginia Wesleyan College attempts to equip prospective teachers with a thorough professional education, ample mastery of the subject matter to be taught, a breadth and richness of liberal culture, and a Christian view of the dignity and worth of human personality.

The program enables students to meet requirements for elementary and secondary certificates in this and other states, and for the West Virginia public school certificate (valid in both elementary and secondary levels). The public schools of the area afford opportunities for directed observation and teaching.

Dr. Paul McArdle. 12. Esther Wilmoth.

Home Economics

The Home Economics Department provides fundamental preparation for those wishing to enter professional careers in home economics or to enter graduate school. Home Economics synthesizes knowledge drawn from its own research, from the physical, biological, and social sciences and the arts, and applies this knowledge to improving the lives of families and individuals. It is the purpose of this department to develop competency in utilizing both human and material resources to further the well-being of society. For this reason, all courses in the department are open to all students, regardless of their major, if prerequisites are met. This department has well-equipped laboratories and lecture rooms. In addition, there is a Home Management House in which students live for several weeks trying out new theories and putting principles they have learned in the classroom to actual practice.

Students planning to teach at the secondary level are eligible for vocational certification in home economics. Students can meet the requirements of the American Dietetic Association for the dietetic internships. Wesleyan is the only private college in the state approved to issue the vocational teaching certificate in home economics and the only private coeducational college in the tri-state to offer the dietetic program.

Government

The undergraduate degree in government provides a suitable foundation for the student who wishes to obtain an advanced degree in political science, public administration, and other disciplines within the social sciences. The pursuit of a future degree in law is another frequent goal of the undergraduate major.

The degree in government can lead to possible employment opportunities in government service with local, state, and national agencies; diplomatic service careers; positions with organizations conducting research; positions in organizations engaged in planning activities at the local, state, regional, and national levels; careers in journalism and in specialized writing and editing; and, in the area of politics, the holding of elective or appointive office and positions with full-time professional campaign organizations.

 3 Dr. Roy Curry, history, and Dr. Mow
 4 Dr. Ben Martin, history
 5 Ian Taplin, sociology
 6 Dr. John Warner, chairman, sociology

Religion

The courses in religion contribute to education in the humanities through their consideration of man in terms of his religious insights, commitments and traditions. Such study of religion encompasses scriptural foundations, historical development, theological reflection and social-cultural expression. In keeping with the tradition of the College, Christianity receives particular attention as a basis for understanding the heritage of the Western world.

The major or minor is appropriate for persons preparing for professional theological study or church-related vocations. However, it is recommended for any student interested in man and his cultural development.

English

The Department of English believes that literature should be an integral part of every student's program. In its curriculum listings, the department provides literary experiences suitable to the needs of all students, and teachers can design courses to meet their mutual needs and interests. Non-majors, as well as majors, are encouraged to participate and will benefit from this flexible program.

The department aims are broadly cultural and are intended for persons who wish contact with the world of experiences, ideas, and human relations. The courses are directed toward the student in liberal arts as well as those interested in graduate school and teaching. Concentration in specialized areas is possible for upperclassmen through a variety of seminars and reading courses which offer close contact with professors.

Music

It is the purpose of the Department of Music to afford students an opportunity to develop an understanding and an appreciation of music, and to become accomplished musicians. The curriculum leading to the degree of Bachelor of Music Education is designed specifically for students preparing for the teaching profession. The curriculum leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts with a major in Applied Music is designed specifically for students who wish to concentrate primarily on the study of music literature and in the development of their performance skills. Those wishing to achieve the same degree with a major in Theory will follow basically the same curriculum but with less emphasis on performance and a greater concentration on theory and literature. All curricula offered provide a strong foundation for graduate study.

The Music curriculum is a competency based program. Each candidate for a degree in music must satisfactorily complete all competencies currently required in order to be cleared for graduation. The administration of the program is explained to every new student during the first semester of residence.

1978-79 Senior Class Officers: Randy Light — President, Jackie Lee — Vice-President, Greg Wriston — Secretary-Treasurer, Patti Fruchaska

The Class of 1979 contributed in several ways during the 1978-79 academic year. One of the notable contributions was the senior class gift of $1,800 to the Library Endowment Fund. Herbert L. Sharp, director of college relations acknowledged the gift to the Library Endowment Fund and stated that the gift was to his knowledge the largest class gift the college has received for many, many years. The thoughtful and generous gift was made possible through a new fund raising project. The project was reorganized and developed the year before by the Class of 1978 under the administration of President Bill Richardson. Mr. Sharp expressed hope that the gift this year could become a precedent for future years.

Epilogue

Graduation Day . . . amidst goodbyes and good lucks, I repeated, "The 1979 yearbook will be completed no matter what measures are necessary." Now the last day of July, I find myself in the Publications Office struggling to fulfill my promise. The yearbook has remained the singularly most important responsibility in the editor's life. Professors, extracurricular events, fraternity brothers, a girlfriend, and class work, yes even class work became minorly important.

This editor as have past and future editors must contend with approaching deadlines which may cause a desertion in the ranks of the staff. However bitter the campaign has been, it is worthy of the infinite favors from our campus professional photographer Howard Hiner and staff photography editor Paul Plum. I thank those who went that extra mile to make the yearbook possible: Tricia Appleby, Julie Titus, Kim Smith, Jim Warner of The Record Delta for his sports photography, to Ron Richardson of Taylor Publishing Company for his advice and concern, and to our faithful advisor Mrs. Baldwin for being supportive. Special thanks to those friends who contributed and to my roommate of four memorable years Paul "Dingles" Wright who endured my insatiable disposition at times concerning the book but whose vivacity never ceased to provide a blithe spirit. And finally, my greatest appreciation to Dee Hughes whose optimism, boundless creativity, and determination made this book possible.

The 1979 MURMURMONTIS was undertaken beginning in March due to the extenuating circumstances of the 1978 publication. Therefore readers, the disintegrating staff is understandable and hopefully you will realize how certain predesigned features were disappointingly eliminated due to the unrelenting time element. An index would have been most desirable but impossible based on the time and limited personnel. This book's structure is innovative, and we have tried to include the majority of academic events, students, sport events, and campus experiences despite the time factor.

To those not associated with our college, the photographs and copy might captivate minute interest, but for persons who composed the 1978-1979 Wesleyan community, it is hoped that this publication will be a moderate representation . . . "For this: I celebrate you my friend."

Greg Wriston, Editor
